On the Water

A quiet winter's evening

Moonrise

Like most of our feathered friends, they think they own the place. This, a Nankeen night-heron (thanks to Alana Francis).

Around the Grounds

Ian Cope, our Maintenance Officer, has been busy with his own maintenance, replacing the motor in his boat, Susan. Here, in a few easy steps, he shows how it's done (with help from Daniel and Misha)

Shiny new Volvo

Our versatile club tractor; don't try this at home!

NOTICE TO MARINERS

From Dave Gittins

Two recent Notices to Mariners may be of interest to those venturing afar this summer.

One advises that charts Aus 341 and Aus 342 have been replaced with new editions. The changes correct the positions of several islands south of Ceduna, which were out by up to half a mile.

The second, closer to home, advises that a mark near Edithburgh has been removed and replaced by a virtual aid to navigation, visible only to those with AIS receivers. Old charts show the old mark as a beacon with a light flashing twice every eight seconds. It was fairly recently replaced by a north cardinal buoy. The absence of the mark is of little consequence to small craft, as there is around 10 metres of water in the area.

Annual General Meeting Sunday 28 July at 2PM

Nominations for committee positions and proxy forms available

Sail racing

Last month's race saw Bullet, Twisted, and Shilo head south up the channel in a pleasant 10 knot breeze. Twisted out-tacked Bullet on the return while Shilo spent some time looking for water.

Next race is 21 July: 12:00 Start

All welcome and no experience required
